Rob Morris Charge

Also called the Walking Charge, The Royal Canadian Charge and in Indiana the Alternate Charge.

In Mason's lodge with darkened eyes
And a cable tow about you
You swore to Hele all mysteries
That Masons keep and Masons prize
The Brothers secrets whispered low
The words they speak, the things they do,
In mystic manner taught you.

On yonder book, that oath you took, and you should break it never. But stand by this, and this, forever and ever.

(1)(2)(3)

You swore to answer and obey
The Summons sent you duly
My Brothers hand or Lodge array,
You swore that you would never stray
From laws and rules that bound
Freemasons in the days renowned
But would observe them truly.

On yonder book that oath you took, and you should break it never, But stand by this, and this, and this, forever and forever.

(4)(5)(6)

You swore in charity to care
For all with sorrow smitten,
The Brother on the darkened square,
The Widow, full of grief and care,
The sorrowing orphan doomed to stray
On life's cold path and cheerless way
While tears gush forth unbidden.

On yonder book that oath you took, and you should break it never, But stand by this, and this, forever and forever.

(7)(8)(9)

Your swore to deal in honesty
With each true heart around you
That honor bright should ever be
The unbroken bond, twixt him and thee'
Nor wrong, nor guile, nor cruel fraud
Should ever break or loose that holy chord
With which these vows have bound you.

You swore the chastity to shield Of women true and tender A brothers wife, A brothers child His mother, sister, Undefiled Those, pure of heart, whose love Makes Mason's homes like heaven above You are their sworn defender.

On yonder book, three oaths you took and you should break them never But stand by this, and this, and this, forever and forever.

(10)(11)(12)

These are our vows, be these our care, And may such light be given In answer to our earnest prayer That we may ever do or dare. All that God's gracious laws enjoin That, so, when shades of night decline. We may be found in heaven.

On this fair book these vows we all took and we should break them never But stand by this, and this, and this, forever and forever.
